CHARLES B. WANG

OWNER & GOVERNOR

Charles B. Wang is an entrepreneur, visionary, author, and philanthropist. Since founding Computer Associates International, Inc. in 1976 (now CA, Inc.), Mr. Wang has become known as one of the most successful leaders in the technology field.

Technology has not only served as the basis of Mr. Wang's business but has also played an integral role in the success of his professional ventures. His two books, Technovision (1994) and Technovision II (1997), became leading guides for business leaders seeking to parallel their organizational and technology goals. Since then, he has continued his commitment to technological advancement and has been instrumental in the development and growth of many technology companies in the United States and China. He currently serves as Chairman of the Board for NeuLion (TSX: NLN), which is the leading provider for the delivery of live and on-demand content to Internet-enabled devices, and boasts a client list that includes the NHL, NFL, NBA, UFC and Univision amongst many others.

In 2000, Mr. Wang expanded his interests into the field of professional sports by purchasing the New York Islanders of the National Hockey League. His subsequent purchase of the Bridgeport Sound Tigers, the Islanders' minor league affiliate, allowed him to begin revitalizing the once legendary hockey organization. In October of 2012, he announced that the Islanders franchise would stay in New York and move to Barclays Center in Brooklyn at the start of the 2015-16 season.

Mr. Wang is also actively involved in supporting many charitable foundations. His efforts include, but are not limited to, the expansion of the Charles B. Wang Community Health Center in New York City, which offers comprehensive primary care services and provides award winning health education and advocacy programs to Asian American communities in the New York City area, with centers located in Flushing and Manhattan. Additionally, Mr. Wang's contribution to the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) allowed for the establishment of the Charles B. Wang International Children's Building which serves as the organization's headquarters in Alexandria, Virginia. Furthermore, his gift to Stony Brook University to construct the Charles B. Wang Center was, at the time, the largest private donation in the history of the State University of New York. The Center celebrates Asian and American cultures. Mr. Wang's donation to Soochow University in Suzhou, China, established a new building to house the University's law school. In 2000, the University's law school was renamed The Kenneth Wang School of Law in honor of Mr. Wang's late father, who was a graduate of the University and law school.

Of all his philanthropic ventures, the one that is nearest and dearest to Mr. Wang is Smile Train. Mr. Wang is the founder, and serves as Chairman on Smile Train's Board of Directors. He is the leading force behind Smile Train and its mission to provide free surgery to impoverished children in developing countries around the world, who suffer from cleft lip and/or cleft palate. Through his efforts, Smile Train's model of empowering local medical teams to provide free and safe surgery for affected children has proven successful and as a result Smile Train has become the leader in the eradication of cleft lip and palate in emerging countries where millions of children are living with unrepaired clefts. Since its inception 14 years ago, Smile Train has provided over 917,000 free surgeries to date. Smile Train's mission is documented in the film, Smile Pinki which was the 2008 Academy Award Winner in the category of Best Documentary Short.

Charles B. Wang was born in Shanghai, China and moved to the United States with his family in 1952 at the age of eight. He earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Mathematics from Queens College. He resides on Long Island with his family.
